

Chicago Works Posts PBC's Greenbuild Video

The City of Chicago played host to the USGBC's 2010 Greenbuild Conference on November 17-19, 2010.

At the conference Mayor Richard M. Daley received the first ever Mayor Richard M. Daley Legacy Award for Global Leadership in Creating Sustainable Cities established in his honor by the United States Green Building Council (USGBC). This award is in recognition of the Mayor's visionary efforts in making Chicago one of the most environmentally-friendly cities in the nation, and will carry his name in perpetuity.

Prior to the conference Erin Lavin Cabonargi served on the Leadership Circle, the local organizing committee for the event. She was also a featured panelist at the Green Jobs Summit held in conjunction with the Greenbuild Conference & Expo. Erin Lavin Cabonargi spoke at the session entitled Powering the Economy: How Federal, State and Local Green Policies are Driving Green Jobs.

In cooperation with 'Chicago Works' the PBC developed a video highlighting its environmental sustainability program initiatives, check it out at: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=8gf18bPGum0> or simply search for 'Public Building Commission' at www.youtube.com.

All PBC projects are designed to achieve a minimum LEED "Silver" certification from the United States Green Building Council (USGBC). To date the PBC has 39 projects registered with the USGBC, and a total of 31 additional projects have already achieved LEED certification, more than any other city in the United States.
